

Properties and Functions of the Inner Light Charm

The Design's Intention

The Inner Light Charm is designed to help you break through any blocks that are making you feel stuck, and to aid you in uncovering and letting your inner light shine. It is also about educating people about holding and magnifying their inner light. The Inner Light Charm aids your understanding of what it means to "have light" and of how to strengthening one's light, especially if stuck or blocked. Once "unstuck," you can use the Inner Light Charm to amplify, concentrate, and direct your inner light in order to make big breakthroughs.

The Design's Properties

The Inner Light Charm contains five key properties that help people access and work with their inner light in order to make big breakthroughs for themselves and for the world at large.

Ego-based will vs. Divine will – Understand the contrast between being driven by the will of your ego vs. being guided by Divine will. Divine will is the force that moves all form closer to its innate state of divine balance. When you operate through Divine will, your path unfolds, creating a more joyful lifetime and learning experiences. When your experiences and objects are governed by the will of your ego, the focus is on manifesting things you don't necessarily need, but want as "proof" of your success in the world. This results in a sense of emptiness, frustration, and lack of fulfillment, which creates further blocks in your energy systems. This inevitably leads to an underlying sense of incompleteness and a separation from Divine Will and protection.

About those blocks:

Outmoded beliefs, thoughts, and desires create blocks in our energy bodies, particularly in our 2nd and 3rd chakras. These blockages result in manifestation of experiences that move you further away from a state of divine balance. The citrine bead used in the center strengthens the resonant field of your 2nd and 3rd chakras, clearing blockages from your energy systems. "Citrine helps dispel fundamental levels of fear, brightening even the darkest corner of one's perceived reality and helping one 'laugh without restraint.' It is very useful in assisting to penetrate problems and expedite solutions." (From "The Magic of Gemstones".) Once the blocks are cleared, you can create purer energetic blueprints (i.e., Intentions) for your reality. This clears the way to manifest those experiences and things that move you closer to your innate state of divine balance.

Wear the Inner light Charm close to your problem areas: on your wrists for breakthroughs in creativity; close to your heart to clear emotional blocks; next to your throat to create communication breakthroughs. Wear over your solar plexus to release your ego-will and align your will with Divine Will.

Property-1:

Property-1 has two functions that help you access, strengthen, and amplify your inner light, in other words, it "turns you on" to your authentic life purpose.

Functions:

- a. It revitalizes you and gives you a fresh new lease on life and a new lens with which to see and respond in the world.
- b. Once you are tapped into your core inner light, it lets others know it's there, so as to signal/be a beacon for them. When others witnesses another's light shining, they are naturally inspired to seek the glow within them. It begins an uplifting influence, a ripple effect that builds on itself.

Properties and Functions of the Inner Light Charm

Property-2:

Property-2 has three functions that clear distortions and blocks from your biological and energetic bodies. Did you know your cells and cerebral spinal fluid (CSF) emit light? When you are stuck or blocked mentally, or emotionally stuck or blocked, it affects the ability of your cells and CSF to transfer and transmit light. Often the block is due to patterns learned from past experiences that continue to pull you out of balance with your authentic purpose and power base. The Inner Light Charm helps you disconnect from these block-inducing patterns and memories, and grants you the opportunity to reconnect with your authentic purpose and renewed sense of operating from an authentically balanced power base.

Functions:

- a. The light vibration of citrine breaks through, breaks up, and releases crystallized blocks of fears and outmoded memories, patterns, and belief systems that continue to pull you away from a state of divine balance.
- b. The charm gives you direct access to experiencing the joy and miracle in all things and in each moment.
- c. It helps you experience your challenges as events designed to peel away the blocks and lead you to discover your authentic self and your naturally designed alignment with divine will. When your authentic inner light and purpose drive your actions and attitudes, you'll experience such a deep sense of balance that others will not have the power to pull you away from it, no matter how extreme their actions and intentions.

Property-3:

Property-3 includes three functions to align that which you manifest with divine will. The energy of the cosmos and energies from the earth merge within your being thru your energy systems. The Inner Light Charm connects you with the metaphysical principle of "universal light." See each creation you birth on the earth plane as a manifestation of Universal Light, an expression of pure joy. When you become in resonance with the concepts and ideas the universe sends you, you will start to create only those things that are for the highest good of all concerned.

Functions:

- a. This function connects and aligns your inner light with your divine purpose in order to follow your highest, most fulfilling path.
- b. This function gently moves you into a frequency aligned with bringing light to the rest of the world in order to participate in shifting human kind forward.
- c. This function connects and aligns you to create from within the resonance of universal state of Divine Balance, creating experiences that are for the good of all. After all, "manifestation" is simply creating in alignment with your life purpose.

Step-1 of the ability to create is setting clear Intention. Intention creates the energetic blueprints of our life experiences. This energetic blueprint is formed by your every thought, belief, and expectation.

Step-2 of the ability to create is Manifestation. When guided by Divine Will, that which you manifest comes from a path of love, creating experiences and things that move all involved closer to a state of Divine Balance. This is your divine purpose. There is no struggle to manifest because you are operating within a state of balance surrounded by the protective and provisional powers of the Universe. "Everything speaks its purpose thru patterns." (From Beginner's Guide to the Universe, pg 350, 351)

Properties and Functions of the Inner Light Charm

Property-4:

Property-4 creates a bridge in order to re-ignite the connection between your inner light with the divine spark. "According to the Enochian Monad Model, every entity or "divine spark" enters the Cosmic Planes of Manifestation as an unselfconscious life-atom. Life-atoms slowly evolve into self-conscious Monads, and these slowly evolve into Gods as they undergo karmic evolution on the cosmic planes. Therefore the only real difference between a life-atom, a human being and a god is evolution in time. The monadic essence of each is identical. A life-atom can be defined as an immature God. A God can be defined as a highly-evolved life-atom." – From "Enochian Deities and Hierarchies", by Gerald and Betty Scheuler.

Function:

- a. The energy of the cosmos and energies from the earth merge within your being through your energy systems. Your being becomes a bridge in order to awaken the light within you (i.e., spark your inner light). In order to move into the frequency of bringing light to the rest of the world and in order to participate in shifting humankind forward, you must first free up and then anchor your own inner light. Anchoring and freeing up your inner light enhances your ability to carry your (vibrational) "light." into areas and systems that are dark or have a limited light frequency, thus contributing to an increase of light on the planet. You then can then merge your divine light with others of like-resonance and bring greater light to civilization as a whole.

Property-5:

Property-5's five functions help you learn how to hold, anchor, concentrate, regulate, and manage the consistency and steadiness with which you shine your inner light out to the rest of the world.

Functions:

- a. This function helps you anchor your inner light, enhancing your ability to consistently carry and hold your "light" vibration and resonance into areas and systems that are dark or have limited light frequency. Thus, you contribute to bringing an increase of light on the planet.
- b. It helps you regulate and manage the amplitude with which you express your inner light, much like a dimmer switch is used to vary the lighting in a room depending on the occasion or situation.
- c. It helps you focus, aim, concentrate, and project your inner light, helping you see clearly in darker realms.
- d. It gives you access to different uses and applications of the color-light spectrum. Mastery of this knowledge will help you understand how your inner light can be used in much the same way as the color-light spectrum is used via technology.
- e. This last function of Property-5 opens up your access to an entirely new body of knowledge. Light itself is a realm of consciousness and an entire life's exploration. Learning about the various attributes of light and then mastering how you access, maintain, and use your inner light in conjunction with the study of the light spectrum (via functions a. through d.) is a life's study in and of itself.
